When most people think of senior living, they picture stereotypes that don't always match the truth. Is it really like a nursing home?

Will you lose your independence?
Is it too expensive, or only for those who need daily care?

These are some of the common misconceptions we hear every day, and we're here to set the record straight. Join us for an open and informative discussion where we'll break down the myths, share what modern senior living really looks like, and answer your questions along the way.

From vibrant communities and engaging activities to personalized support and peace of mind for families, you'll discover the reality behind today's senior living options. Whether you're planning for yourself or a loved one, this event will give you clarity, confidence, and a fresh perspective.
